Budgeting, Forecasting, and Reporting for Indigenous Organizations

True Sky helps Indigenous organizations manage budgeting, planning, forecasting and reporting with greater visibility, stronger controls, and less manual effort.

TRUE SKY BENEFITS

- Leverage Excel for Budgeting and Reporting: End users can continue working in Excel, a familiar and easy-to-use interface, while finance gains the structure, security, and control needed for enterprise budgeting and reporting. This helps support user adoption and reduces training effort.
- Budget Across Funding Sources and Programs: Indigenous organizations often manage multiple programs, grants, departments, and funding requirements. True Sky helps teams budget and report across different dimensions, making it easier to track resources accurately and meet reporting needs.
- Improve Visibility and Accountability: With centralized data, secure templates, and consistent reporting, finance teams can provide clearer insight to leadership, Council, boards funders, and other stakeholders. This helps support more informed discussions around priorities, funding, and resource allocation.
- Integrate with Data You Need: True Sky can connect with your ERP and other electronic data sources, helping reduce manual updates and giving finance teams access to more consistent, reliable information for budgeting, forecasting, and reporting.

“True Sky has helped streamline our budgeting and planning process and given us better visibility into our financial data. Being able to work within Excel made the system easy for our team to adopt, and the True Sky team has been collaborative, hands-on, and easy to work with.” CFO, First Nations Organization
